We've reported on numerous events identified in the 2020 election already which are being referred to as 'glitches' by the Democrats. Tonight we just uncovered another 'glitch' in Wisconsin.

When this one is confirmed it will result in a 19,500 vote gain for Trump making the Wisconsin race a total toss-up.

There is now a pattern of events we have uncovered across the country where votes are being taken from Republicans at all levels and transferred to competing Democrats in offsetting amounts. These are not random because in every case votes are moved from Republicans to Democrats.

This is beginning to appear like a strategy used by the Democrats to steal this election.

We reported first on a system glitch, as it was labeled, in Michigan which switched 6,000 votes back to President Trump.

Now tonight we have identified approximately 10,000 votes that were moved from President Trump to Biden in just one Wisconsin County.

This information came from an individual who saw this happen in Rock County Wisconsin.

On election night the results of the county were presented during the evening and showed that President Trump won Wisconsin in 2016. At 10:59 the votes came in and the race was close with both candidates at around 29,000 ballots. Then by 11:12 President Trump had taken a nearly 1,000 vote lead on Biden with 31,000 votes to Biden's 30,000:

At 11:21 these results had not changed much. Then at 11:43 more votes came in and they showed Trump had taken a commanding lead at 46,649 to Biden’s 37,133. This was a 9,516 vote lead for Trump.

But then suddenly at 11:57 these votes had swapped. Biden was reported with 46,649 and Trump was reduced to Biden’s former total of 37,133. These votes had swapped from the President Trump to Biden – again a swap from a Republican to a Democrat.

Wisconsin Rock County
	Before	After	Diff
Trump	46,649	37,133	9,516
Biden	37,133	46,649	- 9,516
	9,516	- 9,516	19,032
	Currently	Less Diff	Result
Trump	1,610,030	9,516	1,619,546
Biden	1,630,570	- 9,516	1,621,054
	- 20,540	19,032	- 1,508

The net impact was 19,032 votes.

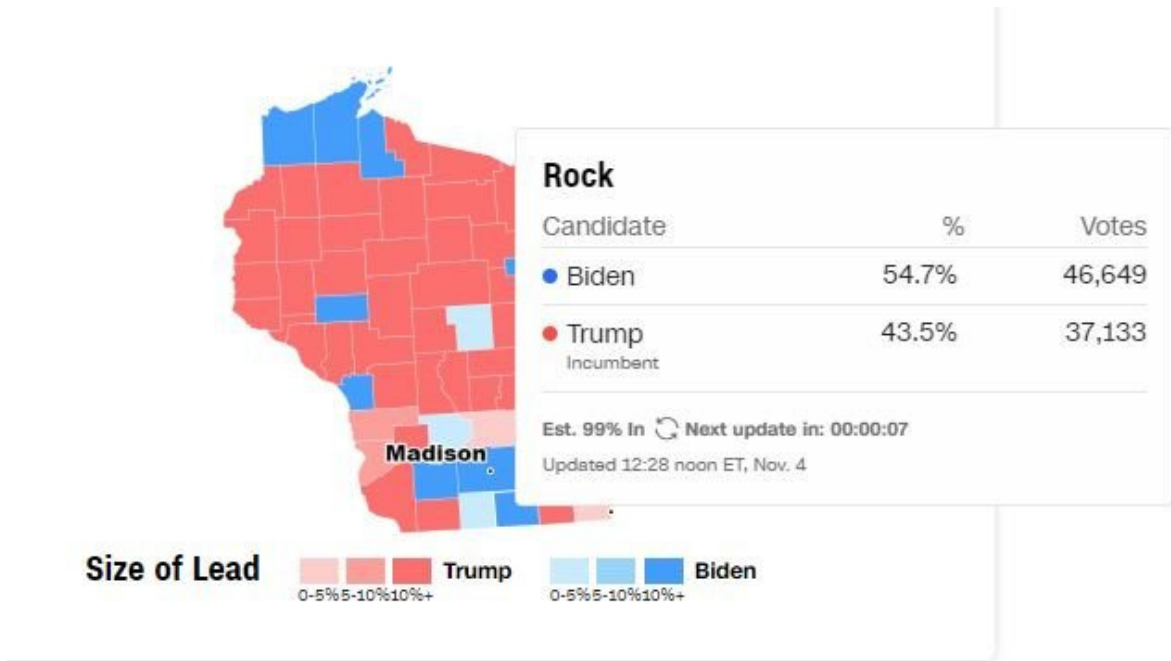

They switched!

Candidate	Votes	%
Trump	31,343	49.90%
Biden	30,453	48.50%
Jorgensen	852	1.40%
Blankenship	109	<1%
Carroll	83	<1%

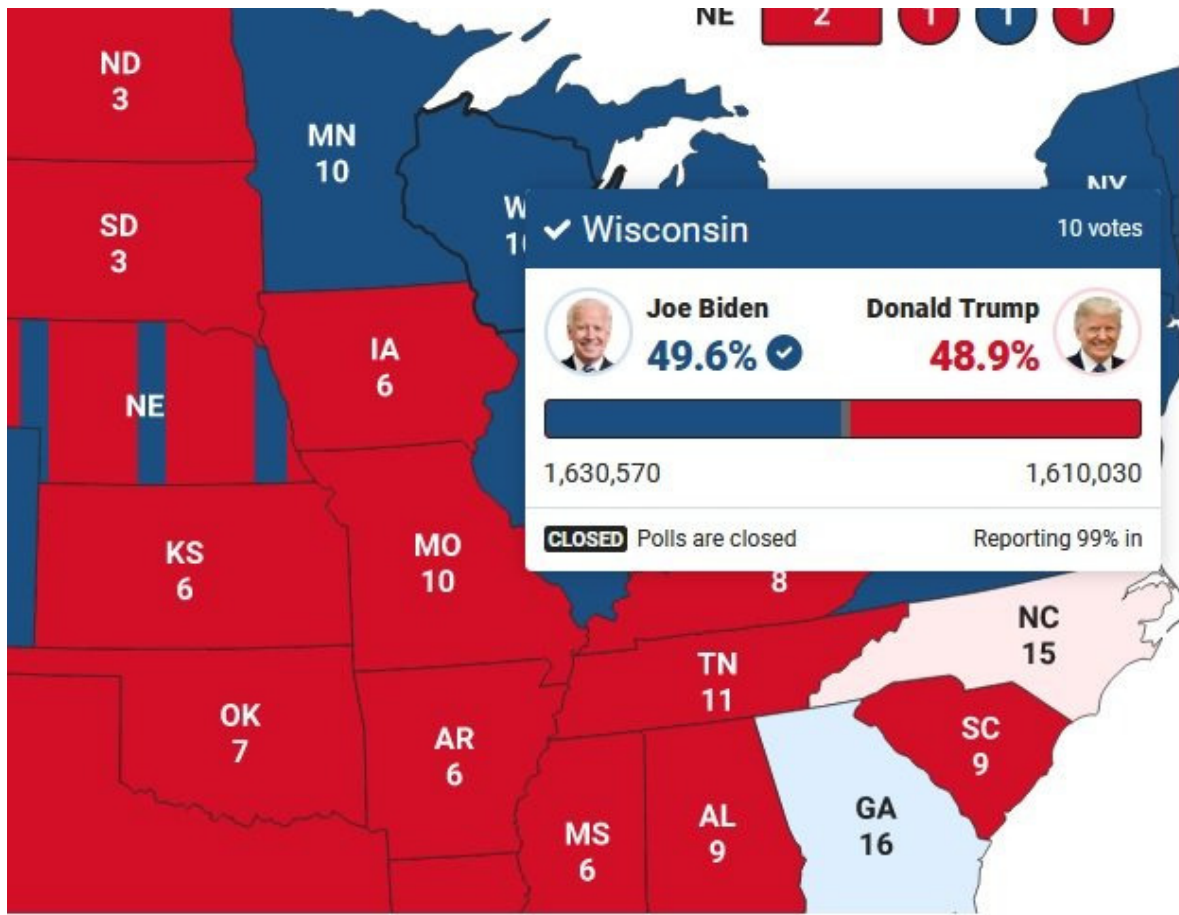

Candidate	Votes	%
Trump	46,649	54.80%
Biden	37,133	43.60%
Jorgensen	1,094	1.30%
Blankenship	152	<1%
Carroll	122	<1%

Candidate	Votes	%
Biden	46,649	54.80%
Trump	37,133	43.60%
Jorgensen	1,094	1.30%
Blankenship	152	<1%
Carroll	122	<1%

We checked these numbers again tonight from a different source and the final numbers are still showing Biden ahead of President Trump by the same 9,516 votes.

Currently the race in Wisconsin is showing Biden with a lead of 1,630,570 votes to President Trump's 1,610,030 votes. When this adjustment is confirmed Biden will only hold a 1,508 vote lead. This of course is before any of the hundreds of thousands of questionable votes showing up for Biden in Milwaukee early in the morning after the election are validated.

Maybe it is time to classify these 'glitches' that go only one way - in the Democrats favor - as a Strategy to steal the election, not a 'glitch'.

This is now a countrywide issue.
